Lisbon, June 2.

THE 8th Inſtant is Corpus Chriſti Day, for ſolemnizing which the King has cauſed the moſt magnificent Preparations to be made that ever were ſeen. His Majeſty has cauſed very wide Rows of large wooden Pillars to be erected all along the Terreiro de Paco and Rucio. Above 6000 Men have been employed theſe 5 Weeks in carving and painting thoſe Pillars; the Bodies are of Marble Colour, the Pedeſtals and Corniſhes of Gold and Green Colour; they are covered a top, and painted with divine Emblems, and Hangings of Crimſon Damask with Gold Fringe are to extend from one End to the other. The Proceſſion is to paſs through theſe Lines of Pillars to the new Patriarchal Church of Weſt Lisbon, and is to be cloſed by one of his Majeſty's Coaches which was brought from Rome, and coſt 120000 Cruſadoes: The Houſes of the Streets through which it paſſes are hung from the 3d Story to the Ground, and all the Windows are to be adorned with Crimſon Silk. 'Tis computed that the King's Expence on this Occaſion will be above 300000 Cruſadoes. 'Tis ſaid his Majeſty deſigns to build a new Palace for himſelf, another for the Patriarch, and a 3d for the Canons, on the Ground between Lisbon and Alcantara.

The King's Declaration, ſuſpending for the Term of one Year, all Diſputes, Conteſts, and Differences that have riſen in the Kingdom on Occaſion of the Bull of our Holy Father the Pope, againſt the Book of Moral Reflexions upon the New Teſtament.

LEWIS, &c. We have always regarded the Duty of protecting the Church of our Kingdom, and removing or preventing all that might diſturb her Tranquility, as our chief and moſt important Duty. Upon the Conteſts which aroſe on Occaſion of the Bull iſſued by the Pope againſt the Book intituled, Moral Reflexions upon the New Teſtament, we out of that indiſpenſible Duty, immediately exhorted the Biſhops, who appeared to be of different Sentiments, to argue the Caſe among themſelves, and to agree upon every thing relating to Doctrines of Faith; but though they declared, that, Thanks to God, there was no Diverſity of Sentiments among them about Matters of Faith, yet we found ſtill Obſtacles to a perfect Tranquility; and having obſerved, to our Grief, that the Warmth of Diſputes and Writings obſtructed the Union, managed with indefatigable Care by our deareſt and moſt beloved Uncle the Duke of Orleans Regent, we impoſed a general and abſolute Silence in our Kingdom about the Matters controverted, by our Declaration of the 7th of October, 1717. The Event ſeemed to ſecond our Deſires, and the Duke of Orleans having made uſe to Advantage of the Tranquility our Declaration had produced, we had Reaſon to hope the Peace of the Church would be the Fruit of his Application, when by unforeſeen Events the Diſputes were revived, and carried ſo far, that we might have apprehended the Spirit of Diſcord would prevail, had we not been acquainted with the true Sentiments of the Biſhops of our Kingdom and had we not had new Reaſons to hope, that God, who refuſed the Peace of the Church to our firſt Wiſhes, would at laſt grant it to our Perſeverance: But as the new Writings, and the Steps they have of late on both Sides thought it their Right to take, might ſtill more retard the Effect we may expect from the Means which divine Providence has given us, in order to reſtore the Church of our Kingdom to her former Tranquility, we have thought we could not make a more proper Uſe of the Authority with which we are intruſted, than by employing it in diverting all that may obſtruct what is ſo beneficial to Religion and the State; and without laying aſide the entire Submiſſion we owe to the Deciſion and Authority of the Church, to which ſolely belongs the Power in all Matters concerning the ſacred Truth of the Truths neceſſary to Salvation, we are of Opinion we ought to renew for a limited Time the Diſpoſitions of our Declaration of the 7th of October 1717, and at the ſame Time ſo clearly to explain our Intentions relating to this Affair, that not the leaſt Pretence might remain to our Subjects for evading the Execution of a Law, which, at the ſame time that it ſo religiouſly preſerves the Rights of the Church, is ſo proper to procure her Tranquility. For theſe Cauſes, &c. by the Advice of the Duke of Orleans, &c. we ordain, that our Declaration of the 7th of October 1717, be executed according to its Form and Tenour, and that conſequently all Diſputes, Conteſts, and Differences ariſen in our Kingdom, on Occaſion of the Pope's Conſtitution, be and remain ſuſpended; proviſionally impoſing a general and abſolute Silence about that Matter during the Courſe of a Year, to reckon from the Date of this preſent Declaration: Which Time, we hope, will be ſufficient for employing the new Meaſures we have taken to engage the Prelates of our Kingdom to come into the Means for terminating the preſent Diviſions. We therefore forbid to all Univerſities, and namely the Faculties of Divinity in our Kingdom, to permit or ſuffer any Diſpute in the Schools about the ſaid Conſtitution. We forbid likewiſe all our Subjects of whatſoever Condition or Quality, under the Penalties hereafter mentioned, to compoſe, print, ſell, utter, or otherwiſe diſperſe any Writings, Books, or Pamphets, under whatſoever Title, or to make any Acts or Declarations of whatſoever Nature upon the ſame Subject, and on occaſion of the preſent Diſputes, either directly or indirectly, and particularly to ſay, write or print, vend or diſperſe any thing againſt the Reſpect due to the holy See and our holy Father the Pope. The Arrêts publiſhed by the late King our Great Grandfather the 23d of October 1668, and the 5th of March 1703, ſhall be executed according to their Form and Tenour; in Conſequence whereof we expreſly forbid all our Subjects of whatſoever Condition or Quality, to vilify each other by the injurious Appellations of Novators, Janſeniſts, Semi-Pelagians, Schiſmaticks, Hereticks, or other Party Names; all on the Penalty to the Offenders of being treated as Rebels, diſobedient to our Orders, Seditious Perſons, and Diſturbers of the publick Quiet. And tho' we doubt not but the Zeal of the Biſhops of our Kingdom will engage them not only to put in Execution themſelves a Law ſo juſt and wholſome, but alſo to cauſe it to be put in Execution by all thoſe who are ſubject to the Authority of their Miniſtry, nevertheleſs we exhort and very expreſly injoin all the Archbiſhops and Biſhops of our Kingdom, to take Care each in his reſpective Dioceſe, that the Tranquility which we intend to reſtore by this preſent Declaration, be in a charitable manner inviolably preſerved. We alſo enjoyn our Courts of Parliament, and all other our Judges and Officers, to ſee to the Execution of this our preſent Declaration; to cauſe ſtrict Search to be made for all Books, Writings, or Pamphlets, relating to Matters about which by theſe Preſents we ſilence our Subjects; to cauſe ſuch Books or Libels to be ſuppreſſed, even to be torn and burnt, and to puniſh the Offenders of whatſoever Quality or Condition, according to the Rigour of the Ordinances. We likewiſe ordain, that our Ordinance of the 12th of May 1717, relating to Bookſellers, Printers, Hawkers, and others Diſperſers of Books or Pamphlets, printed without Privilege or Licence, be executed according to their Form and Tenor, &c. Given at Paris, the 5th of June 1719, the 4th Year of our Reign.
